INFORMATION MANAGEMENT, COMPLIANCE, & PRIVACY

With the explosion of content, the popularity of cloud tools, and ever-expanding regulations, it is increasingly important to implement information controls. To do that, understanding what you have, where it is, and where it is going is essential—but where do you start?

At Bulletproof, we start with a qualitative review of your people, process, and technology, making sure to document your current behaviours, technology, risks, and concerns along the way. With the results of our comprehensive assessment, you'll be able to:

- Introduce new layers of data protection and business efficiencies seamlessly within your existing Microsoft products
- Implement governance and information protection policies to avoid risk to reputation and regulatory penalties based on a step-by-step roadmap
- Define the strategy and path to mitigating known risks—and a response when internal and external threats materialize
